

ABSTRACT

Using grating built-in type optical fiber coupler and an optical amplifier, multiplex separation of the specific wavelength efficient is done without using an optical circulator etc., and the function to add the signal of specific wavelength efficiently can be realized. In addition, it is in offering the wavelength multiplex transmission system that obtains a device cheaply.